SCAMPED WORK

The earthquake has laid bare the dishonest methods of some of the building contractors. Where the work was properly done, either in wooden stone or brick buildings, the buildings stood. The structures which were shaken down by the shock were in nearly every instance buildings where the mortar was not up to the standard. Concrete with the right kind of mortar stood the test.

It was also shown that the water pipes were not up to the specifications and they parted and left the city at the mercy of the fire.

Fire proof vaults which were supposed to be of steel were merely lath and plaster with steel doors. The Southern Pacific lost millions in valuable records because of these fake vaults in their building.

While preachers are telling their congregations that San Francisco suffered a visitation of providence because of sabbath breaking, intemperance and immorality they overlooked the real facts.

It was not Sunday picnics to Saucelito, liquor joints and the big tenderloin district that resulted in San Francisco's wrecking when the earthquake hit it, but the inevitable result of dishonest work in building.

Providence don't send earthquakes to towns to punish the wicked but there are certain natural laws which never change.

If the contractors put an inferior grade of iron in water pipes they will not withstand heavy strains and if they break and shut off the water the fire will get the upper hand. If the builder places poor material in his building it will go down. The morals of the contractor or the morals of the owner of the building cut no ice. The well built disreputable house will stand and the poorly built church a block away will fail.

The lesson of the great calamity will not be lost on the next generation. It will result in the erection of buildings which will defy both fire and earthquake and contractors who attempt to scamp their work, by which they imperil the lives of thousands, will find their occupation gone.

Some of these dishonest contractors will some day land themselves in the penitentiary for there will be laws passed to regulate their work.

San Francisco will pay more attention to its sanitary needs. It is built on hills and good sewerage should be easy.

The rich should not growl at paying taxes for sanitary regulations. If the poverty districts are not kept clean the epidemic which breaks out in that section sweeps on to the people who live in palaces. This is a natural law that visits retribution on the municipal tax dodger.

The moral of the whole thing is that "honesty is the best policy" in every walk of life and every branch of business.

Removed From Office

HAWTHORNE, May 10.—The Commissioners of Esmeralda county today removed District Attorney Davidson from office because he was unable to put up the additional bond required.

The board appointed to the vacancy Frank Douglas, formerly of Reno but now of Goldfield.
